Alicia Carrasco
CEO olivoENERGY

olivoENERGY is the driving force behind the Spanish Clean Energy Forum FEL2050, an initiative born from our commitment to shaping a brighter, greener future for Spain. At FEL2050 we will ignite innovation, inspire collaboration and empower the cleantech ecosystem to not just meet, but to anticipate the challenges of the regulations of tomorrow.

Our mission is to drive Spain to become a true benchmark for sustainable progress, accelerating changes that transform the system and unlock the full potential of the energy transition. Together, we do more than support companies, we are laying the foundations for a prosperous, ambitious future, ready for what lies ahead.

¿QUÉ ES FEL?

The Spanish Clean Energy Forum FEL2050 brings together each year the most relevant leaders from the Spanish and European energy sector. Founded by olivoENERGY, its main objective is to provide a platform to explore current and future industry trends and to address the solutions driving the energy transition in Spain and Europe.

In this edition of FEL, we will take a realistic, action-oriented approach to the main challenges of the energy transition in Spain, focusing on grids, electrification and the cost of not moving forward at the necessary pace. Are we ready to move from analysis to action?

FEL Objectives

At FEL2050, senior professionals and decision-makers from the energy sector in Spain and Europe will debate how to align policy, innovation and consumers, identifying new business models for market and system players, and contributing to the development of policy decisions that remove barriers and incentivise the use of tools and solutions.
